Why Discover Aquanauts?

I had not thought of or developed a Full Face Mask course. I was actually working with children and teaching them how to communicate with divers out on Lake Michigan. So I needed a class that the children could take and then be a pool and communicate with a diver 25 miles away. It was a good idea and tied in with the challenger learning centers. Some of the video shot after I was gone was used and viewed as far away as Texas. So this program allowed the children to participate in this fascinating weightless world like they were in outer space. Not long after it I was working with a fire department and we were in the canal and realized we needed full-face mask. The chief wanted me to train the divers in the use and functions of a full face mask before they hit the water so I needed a course, WELL that was easy I had this one done and adapted it to the dive team. Years later as the mask become required equipment for all public safety divers and they advance I need to develop a course specific to full face mask diving and I did that with our Full face mask specialty.
